1992 Born in Somerville, New Jersey, USA
2017 Currently lives and works in Lambertville, New Jersey, USA

An emerging artist who specializes in oil paint, and possesses a technical affinity for brightly-colored impasto brushstrokes, as well as an intellectual interest in people, places, and things. She looks forward to refining her style through an exploration of plein air landscape paintings and expressive portraits during the coming months. This is part of a larger examination of the narratives binding humans to the land in which they live, from historical, geographic, and emotional perspectives. These narratives ultimately motivate her body of work.
